Enterprise Learning

Two distinct enterprise learning models within Purple Sheep Institute™

Building Capability. Creating Impact.

Purple Sheep Institute™ helps organizations extend learning beyond individual enrollment through two distinct enterprise learning models. Each is anchored within a PSI Center and designed for a different institutional need.

INSTITUTIONAL LABS™ | Center for Research Administration & Institutional Excellence

For institutions seeking applied workforce capability development within the research enterprise.

Labs begin with the institution's environment and follow Assess → Analyze → Design → Apply → Continue, connecting PSI learning to institutional priorities through assessment, analysis, customized learning design, applied scenarios, and continuation.

Best aligned with: research administration, sponsored research, compliance, institutional stewardship, research operations, and related professional teams.

LEADERSHIP STUDIOS™ | Center for Leadership Excellence

For organizations seeking structured leadership development for a defined cohort.

Studios begin with PSI's established leadership pathways and Series. The experience is contextualized through a governed 70% curriculum / 30% institutional customization model and may be delivered virtually or on-site.

Best aligned with: emerging leaders, developing and established leaders, leadership cohorts, affinity-based cohorts, teams, and entrepreneurial or legacy-focused leadership populations.

Two Models. Distinct Purposes. One Institute.

Institutional Labs™ ask: What workforce capabilities does this institution need to strengthen within its research environment?

Leadership Studios™ ask: Which established leadership learning experience best supports this cohort, and how should it be contextualized for this organization?
